

Let Sattlelite Radio Sing!!!!!!! It's too bad that the National Association of Broadcasters doesn't want XM Sattlelite radio to feature traffic and weather. Maybe if the NAB would have provided better service there would be no niche market now. When I drive rush hour traffiic I appreciate knowledge of congestion and traffic problems. But not being a graduate of Evelyn Woods speed listening classes, I usually have no idea what the NAB's traffic commentary was. It's almost as bad as those rediculous disclaimers that come at the end of radio and TV ads at 100 words a second. I for one am willing to pay for better services, if the NAB doesn't like me to listening to Sattlelite Radio, then they should compete by improving their service. If they don't want to do that, they should face the consequences.
